First quarter 2019 based on IFRS 16. The adoption of IFRS 16 has no material effect on the key financials above.
* Before restructuring costs, impairments and pension one-offs.
 Restated for the adoption of IFRS 15.

Rob van Wingerden, CEO of Royal BAM Group:

‘In the first quarter of 2019, conditions in our markets developed according to expectations. The result reflected a slow start of the year in Civil engineering and the absence of PPP project divestments, against strong results at Construction and Property in the Netherlands. At the sea lock IJmuiden OpenIJ project, there were €3.8 million additional costs for BAM. Preparations are on track for the immersion of the second caisson later in the year.

We continued to focus on the risk and reward balance in our project portfolio and the quality of the order book improved further. Meanwhile, we saw the benefits of our revitalised trade working capital programme, and our financial position remains solid. With the Executive Committee now in place we are accelerating the execution of our strategy and enhancing the rigour and scrutiny over our operations. Regarding Brexit, BAM continues to monitor developments closely.

We reiterate our guidance for full year 2019, that we expect revenue to be around €7 billion and aim to further improve the adjusted result before tax margin within the strategic target range of 2 to 4 per cent.’

Highlights

Construction and Property made a strong contribution. In the Netherlands the number of homes sold, rose to 951 (Q1 2018: 528), mainly due to institutional sales. BAM expects a modest increase in homes sold for full year 2019. Steps are being taken to improve the performance in Belgium. The operations in the UK and Ireland are performing well.

At Civil engineering, the seasonally low result was held back by the Netherlands, which includes sea lock IJmuiden, and Belgium. At BAM International the project pipeline strengthened. The UK had a robust quarter.
In PPP, the portfolio delivered a good result, without any projects transferred to the joint venture with PPGM. In April, the Pulse consortium which includes BAM was selected by the Cross River Rail Delivery Authority as the preferred proponent for the Cross River Rail project in Brisbane, Australia.

The trade working capital efficiency ratio improved to -9.0% (end-December 2018: -8.8%). Optimising working capital is a key priority and the momentum is positive. As expected, funding of the project sea lock IJmuiden by the banking syndicate restarted in March.

Change in accounting standard
BAM adopted IFRS 16 (Leases) with effect from 1 January 2019 using the modified retrospective approach. The adoption has no material effect on the key financials in the first quarter 2019. BAM will report the impact of adopting IFRS 16 on its balance sheet for the first half of 2019.
