Ruud Joosten, CEO of Royal BAM Group:

'I am pleased that our Group delivered a solid operational performance in the third quarter. In the Netherlands, civil engineering continued the positive trend and also the contribution of non-residential construction recovered. The division United Kingdom and Ireland showed a satisfactory performance. There were positive results from the activities in Belgium and Invesis.

We are approaching the end of our ambitious strategic agenda for the 2021-2023 period, ‘Building a sustainable tomorrow’. We have made major progress in de-risking our portfolio by selective tendering and by divestments. At the same time, we remain focused on supporting our clients achieving their goals by providing value driven, reliable and sustainable solutions for construction and vital infrastructure. We are proud that we received the first orders for our Dutch wooden home concept Flow. Our financial resilience further improved and we recently secured the first extension of our €330 million revolving credit facility by one year to November 2027.

The market conditions remain challenging as a consequence of high interest rates, political and geopolitical uncertainties and the continued pressure to attract and retain staff. Against this background, our order book is maintained at a good level of €9.4 billion, with a clear focus on the quality of the order intake. BAM expects to deliver an adjusted EBITDA margin of approximately 4.5 per cent for the full-year 2023.'
Business review first nine months 2023
In the division Netherlands, the Dutch residential activities reported a satisfactory contribution under difficult market conditions. Home sales totalled 863 versus 1,103 homes sold in the comparable period last year. Based on the project pipeline, BAM expects to sell approximately 1,500 homes in 2023 (FY 2022: 2,028). During the third quarter, the performance of non-residential recovered and telecom, energy and water continued to contribute strongly. The operational performance of civil engineering remained solid. Recent project wins include the WeideWald project in Doetinchem to realise 73 sustainable wooden Flow homes and the circular redevelopment of the ABN AMRO Fopingadreef office in Amsterdam.

In division United Kingdom and Ireland, Civil engineering UK delivered good results supported by a high activity level. BAM Ventures and Ireland continued their strong performance. The contribution of Construction UK was impacted by inflation and supply chain challenges on some larger contracts. Following constructive engagement with the client, BAM looks forward to handing over the National Children’s Hospital in Dublin within the revised agreed timescale. Recent project wins include the facility management services for three academic establishments and a multi-year framework contract to upgrade Belfast Wastewater Treatment Works. The announced cancellation by the UK Government of the Birmingham to Manchester phase of the HS2 rail project has no impact on BAM’s current order book.

The activities in Belgium delivered a solid performance.

Financial review
The cash position of €0.5 billion is solid and BAM’s capital ratio improved to 23.6 per cent (H1 2023: 22.3 per cent). Trade working capital efficiency further normalised to -14.0 per cent (H1 2023: -14.8 per cent), which reflects the unwinding of advance payments on large projects as a consequence of BAM’s adjusted tendering strategy and the effect of higher interest rates.

Investigation Dutch authorities
In October 2022, the Dutch Fiscal Information and Investigation Service (FIOD) and the Dutch Public Prosecutions Office (Openbaar Ministerie) have informed BAM International that it is the subject of an investigation into suspicions relating to potential fraud and corruption at some already completed projects. The timing and possible outcome of the investigation are uncertain. Therefore, the potential adverse financial impact of the outcome of the investigation, if any, cannot be reliably estimated at this time but could possibly be material.
BAM is fully cooperating with the investigation and taking appropriate steps in connection with the investigation, including an internal review of the relevant projects. In July 2020, BAM announced its intention to wind down BAM International. Meanwhile all projects of BAM International have been completed.
